

College Careers Support

So, you've got your GCSE results – congratulations if you've got what you wanted! But if your results aren't quite what you had hoped for, here is some advice.

"Take a deep breath and remember, any grade is an achievement!"

You've got the envelope; your results are in, and they are not what you were expecting! Whether they are better or worse than predicted, you are probably in a turmoil of emotions and don't know what to do for the best. This document will look at the sensible steps you should take, whether you are facing disappointment or delight.

All over the country, there will be other students experiencing the same emotions you are, but you can be reassured that colleges, sixth forms and training providers are all preparing to offer advice on what to do next. Although this might be the first time you have faced this uncertainty, it won't be the first time for your teachers or career practitioners; they will be able to help. Take a breath and look at your options; there are still plenty available, and it is what you do now to keep moving forwards that matters.

Exam Result Help Lines: If you need general support and advice about your next steps and to talk through the opportunities available to you consider calling one of the below. There is no such thing as a silly question, you can ask what you want about resits, appeals, work options, training and apprenticeships or college/sixth form opportunities.

College or Sixth Form options:*Changing subjects or courses:

If you needed certain grades to get into a college or sixth form and you missed these, speak to them as soon as possible to find out if they will still accept you. If they won't accept you to the original course(s) you applied to, find out about similar courses they offer.

If you did better than expected in a particular GCSE subject, or you've been rethinking your goals and ambitions, speak to your college or sixth form as soon as possible to see if switching Level 1, 2 or 3 / A-level / T Level subjects is possible. Provided you meet the entry requirements, there are still spaces on the courses and there are no conflicts in your timetable, this shouldn't be a problem.

Changing sixth form or college:

If your original college or sixth form won't accept you to the courses you applied to and they don't offer any similar courses you're interested in, look around at other nearby institutions. These might have lower entry requirements or a wider range of courses to consider.

Many of the local colleges and sixth forms will be open for phone calls and email queries over the exam results period. See below for a list of links to the college and sixth form websites and contact information. They may have dedicated lines so check the websites for the latest details.

Appealing a GCSE grade:

If you want to query a grade – perhaps one is unusually low compared with others and you weren't expecting this, or you've narrowly missed a grade boundary – read the guidance provided in your results pack.

GCSE retakes:

If you don't achieve at least a grade 4 (formerly a C) in your maths and English GCSEs, you'll have to resit these to proceed to Level 3 qualifications. Resits for these can be taken when at college, sixth form or alongside an apprenticeship.

Apprenticeship options:

If your planned next step was into an Apprenticeship and you already have that job offer, the good news is that lower results than you hoped might not prevent you starting on your secured pathway. By the time you've received your results, it's likely that your future employer has completed their recruitment process; you've been through assessment centres, they've interviewed you and decided you were the best candidate for the job. Even if they made you a provisional offer, perhaps dependent on a maths or English grade, in many cases the training providers will offer qualifications you can take alongside your Apprenticeship to 'top up' a result that wasn't quite what you expected. In the first instance, talk to the training provider who will be running the apprenticeship and seek their advice.

If you have changed your mind and want to go to college or sixth form reach out to them to understand what they offer and the places they may still have available.

If you have decided to explore apprenticeships further, act fast, start to explore what is currently available, and what fields of work might interest you. Use the following links to get started:

GCSE Results Day – Information from colleges/sixth Forms

Barton

The enrolment process for new students officially begins on GCSE results day. Each student who has applied to the college will be provided with an enrolment appointment (information is sent directly to applicants and their parent/guardian).

Should students have any questions after receiving their results, we advise them to contact the college directly via our Student Services email address (studentservices@barton.ac.uk) or by calling our main reception (02380367200) and requesting to speak to a member of Student Services.

We strongly advise all students that if they are unsure about their results or would like further guidance, they should attend their enrolment appointment, where we can guide them in the best way possible.

Peter Symonds

Students only need to contact us on GCSE results day if they haven't got the grades they need.

Phone is the best so we can chat things through with them and let them know their options, but the phone lines can get busy so just keep trying. Until we know exactly what grades they have it is difficult to say what will happen but the sooner they contact us the better so we can start to get things put in place. The Level enrolment happens on the Friday after results so for any students who haven't got their grades for Level 3 but would complete the one year Level 3 programme with us they need to contact us on results day so we can get them booked in for Level 2 enrolment on the Friday.

Itchen

We always say to students who have applied to us, even if they do not get the grades they hoped, please still attend their booked enrolment appointment. There will be staff to guide them and help them through the process and look at alternatives. They can also contact our main reception on 023 8043 5636 or email info@itchen.ac.uk but the most important thing is to still come to their enrolment appointment.

SHCG

Our Admissions & Guidance Teams will remain open over the summer to deal with any application queries. However, should any of your students holding an offer with us have any concerns about their GCSE results, please encourage them to attend their Enrolment Appointment (details will be emailed to them in the coming weeks) where we can discuss any concerns or queries about their course or about starting with us in September. Enrolment information will also soon be available on our website. If they have not yet applied, online applications remain open for most courses across SHCG however late interviews won't be held until September. I would appreciate it if you could pass this on to parents and students at your school.
