Section C

Source K: The Greek historian Thucydides discusses Athenian burial customs in war

Three days before the ceremony, the bones of the dead are laid out in a tent which has been erected; and their friends bring to their relatives such offerings as they please. In the funeral procession coffins are carried on carts. . . the bones of the deceased being placed in the coffin. . . Any citizen or stranger who pleases, joins in the procession: and the female relatives are there to wail at the burial. The dead are laid in the public tomb in the most beautiful suburb of the city, in which those who fall in war are always buried. . . After the bodies have been laid in the earth, a man chosen by the state, of approved wisdom and great reputation, pronounces over them an appropriate public speech. . . Such is the manner of the burying; and throughout the whole of the war, whenever the occasion arose, the established custom was observed.
